

18 February 1976

ANOTHER CIA-SCHORR CONFRONTATION

Associated Press

CBS Correspondent Daniel Schorr has never been the sweetheart of Washington officialdom. President Johnson used to call him a "sonofabitch," and President Nixon was so enraged by Schorr he ordered the FBI to dig up some dirt on him. His reports about CIA foreign assassinations led former CIA Director Richard Helms to label him "Killer Schorr" in a face-to-face confrontation last year. Today there was another confrontation, with the new CIA Director, George Bush. The two exchanged words just before the director entered a closed door briefing for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.